To Ellowyn and Matilda: my most beautiful princesses, the two sweetest girls in the world, and the best daughters any man could ask for. I love you so much, and my prayer is that you follow the Lord and chase the stars. And to Brooke, the love of my life. Thank you for sticking with me through thick and thin.
I can't wait to spend forever with you.

In a glittering nighttime sky, two small stars sat upon the moon. Mama Star and her child gazed at the galaxy in all its beauty.

Little Star looked in amazement and thought, I feel so small! “Mama,” said Little Star, “All these planets are so big!”
