

God is enough for me!

BY MARK MASON JR.

Illustrated by Carolyn Frank

One day, Little Sammy the Squirrel was walking through the village. He was walking to the park to meet with his family for a day of fun!

On his way he saw so many different kinds of animals. Big ones, little ones, furry ones, and even some with wings!

He was just a normal-looking squirrel, no fancy clothes and not very tall. “But that’s okay,” thought Little Sammy, “God is enough for me!”

Little Sammy walked to the park and saw his friend Derek the Deer. Derek was looking at the owls in the sky.

They were flying so very high!

Flying so very fast!

Derek was upset.

“I can’t fly high in the sky!” he said.

“All I can do is run and jump through the forest!”

Little Sammy replied, “I can’t fly high in the sky either, or soar through the clouds.

But that’s okay.

God is enough for me!”

Little Sammy walked some more and saw his friend Oliver the Owl.

Oliver was upset.

“Look at all the deer.

They can jump so high,
and some have big antlers!

All I have are wings.”

Little Sammy said,

“I can’t jump as high as a deer,
and I don’t have wings or big antlers.

But that’s okay.

God is enough for me!”

